SuperReturn Asia 2011 QuickFire Showcase:

14.10 - 15.00
Always a must-attend session! Come, admire and cheer on ten brave funds with 2 minutes each, convincing our panel of LPs of their unique selling proposition. Open to all delegates to apply but strictly off-the-cuff with no props or powerpoint

"SuperReturn Asia provides good opportunities for emerging GPs to discuss and seek advice from LPs. I really like the Quick Fire Showcase sessions, which exactly match the smaller GPs' needs"
Vincent Chan, Spring Capital Asia

SuperReturn Asia Feedback

"The quality of people who come for SuperReturn continues to surprise me every year! There must have been at least a thousand meetings this week among LPs and GPs."

Lay Hong Lee, Eagle Asia Partners

"SuperReturn Asia is one of the best managed conferences in Asia for international institutional investors...the conference is one of the most well attended and the most informative one in Asia"

Gabriel Li, Orchid Asia Group Management

"I was very impressed by the caliber of the panelists and the thought which went into the discussion topics, it made for a very worthwhile event"

Brian Doyle, Citic Capital

"Having been to all SuperReturn Asia conferences from the beginning, I am particularly happy to be part of a great success. This year's quality of LPs and GPs are simply the best of class."

Frank Tang, FountainVest Partners

"SuperReturn Asia is THE MUST ATTEND Asia PE conference. The program and quality of speakers, as well as turnout of LPs is truly impressive"

Melissa Ma, Asia Alternatives Management LLC

"Congratulations on an outstanding conference. The presentations really hit home on the issues and challenges for Asian private equity, not only on the strategic issues, but also in regards to tactics and execution"

John Paul Ho, Crimson Investments

THE CHINESE ECONOMY

An Outlook For The Chinese Economy

19 September, 8:50, China Summit

Michael Pettis, Economist

Having learned first hand how markets operate during his years on Wall Street, Michael Pettis has taken his knowledge and insight and applied them to the Asian financial markets as an expert analyst, commentator, and participant. An entrepreneur and music lover, Michael is a force in the Beijing indie-music scene as a club owner, talent manager representing local bands, and record label owner. He is a contributor to the Financial Times and also writes an influential and widely-respected blog, China Financial Markets, on his website, mpettis.com:

"The worse things have looked for the world financial system, the more the world has heard from a Beijing-based financial expert named Michael Pettis, whose blog, China Financial Markets (mpettis.com), is one of a handful I check for clues about what is happening in the Chinese economy."

James Fallows in the Atlantic

"Anyone who cares about China is going to check in to see what Mike is thinking," says Hans Humes, president of New York hedge fund Greylock Capital Management, who worked with Pettis in the 1980s at Manufacturers Hanover Trust. "They would be crazy not to."

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

China And The World

20 September, 10:00

- Global risks versus global opportunities – risk is no longer geographically contained and we are all operating in a world where no one's risk is their own
- Emerging markets are high-growth and an inevitable part of any investors universe. Political and economic setbacks should be viewed as opportunities to invest, not times to retreat
- Geopolitical risk is back, commodity prices are volatile and there is pressure on resources. The key to success for any investor is how this combination is mitigated and managed
- In this context, China has a unique role as both a compelling, if challenging, investment proposition and also as an active and aggressive investor abroad

Lord Mark Malloch-Brown, Chairman, EMEA, FTI CONSULTING
